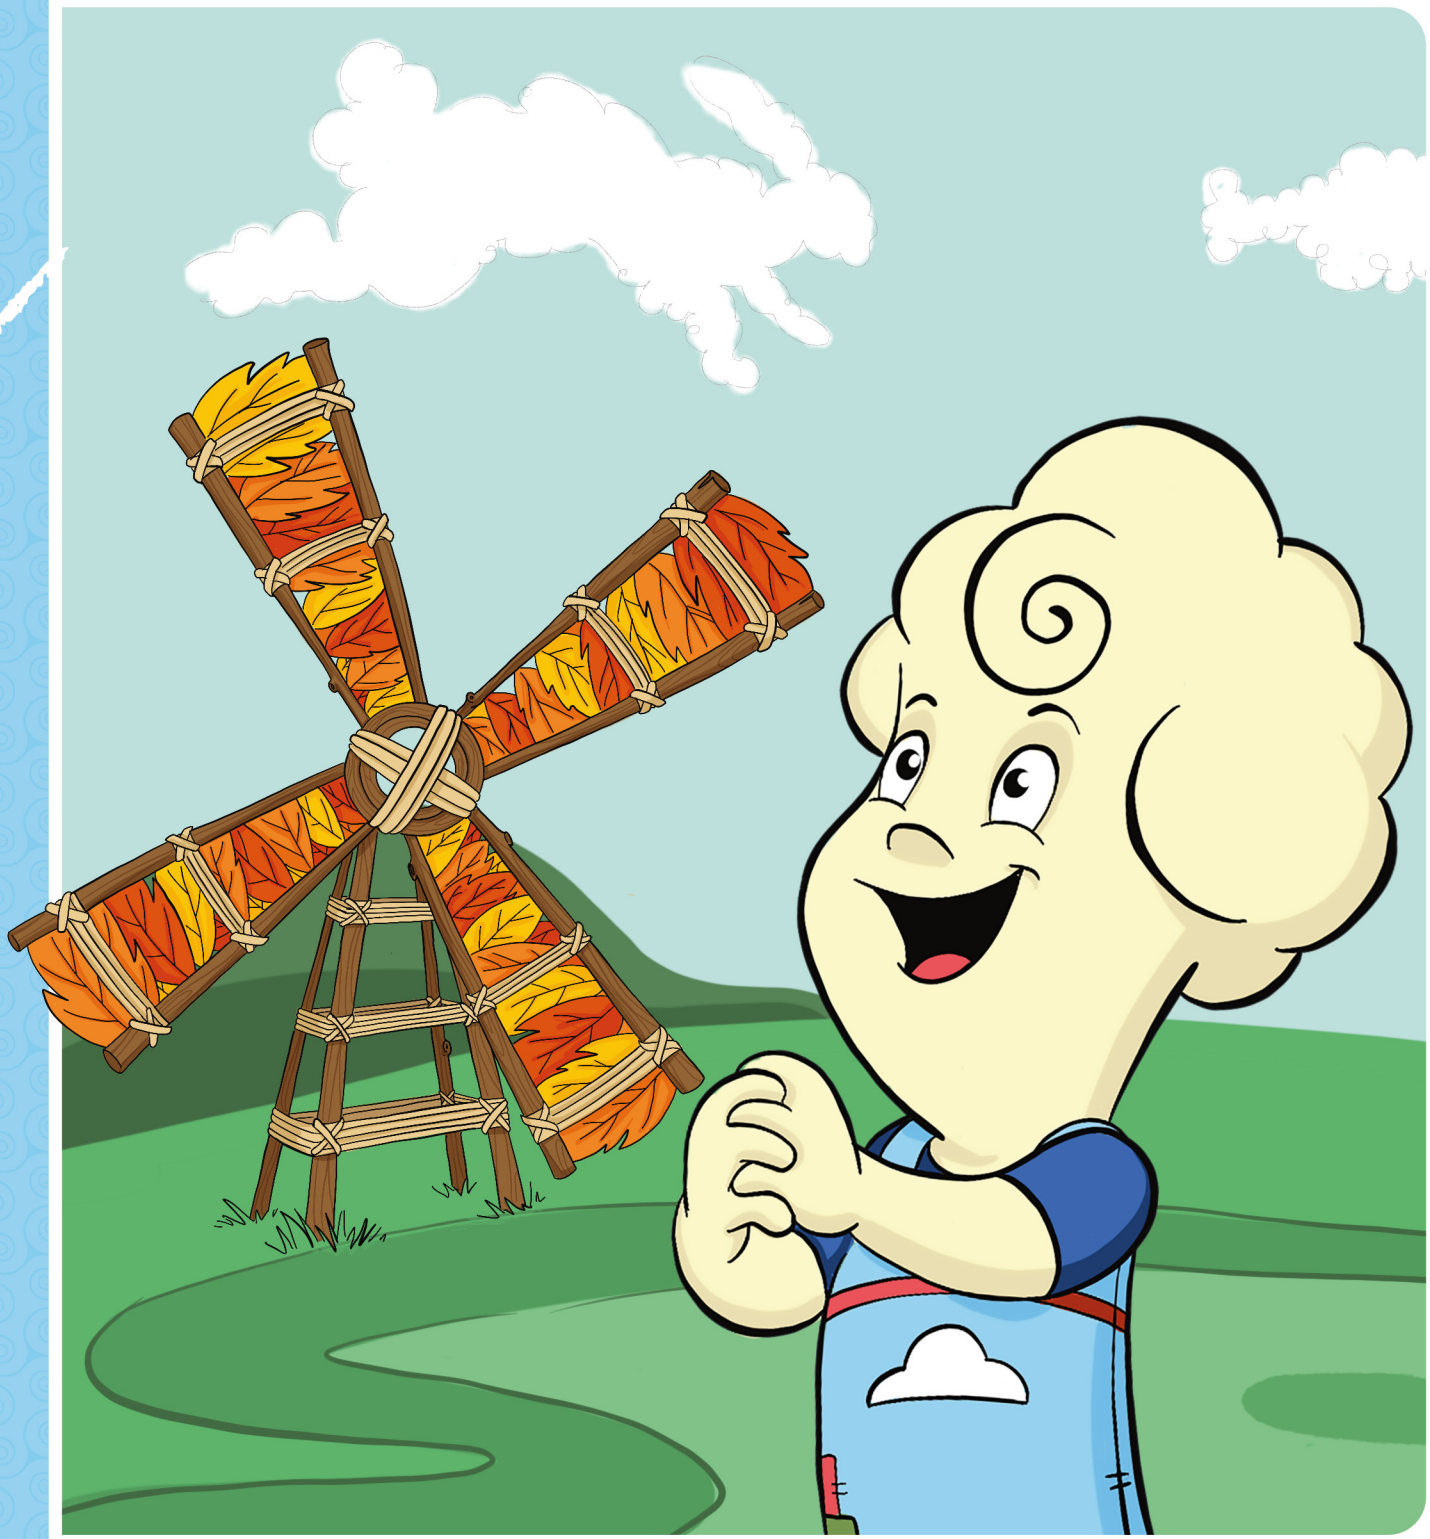
Jay

Jay can use the wind
To stop things going awry
But mostly he just likes
To make cloud shapes in the sky

Jay is the baby of the family, but while he may look like a daydreamer, Jay has the wit and wisdom of a kid twice his age, and often arrives at solutions while the others are still thinking. Jay uses his power over the wind to solve problems, but he also loves to just make cloud shapes in the sky, watching and giggling as they play games together - but like a playful gust of wind, sometimes when Jay's around things fly away without warning!



Bally Ba © Des Shanahan 2020